June 3, 1944

Dear Lark,

Time sure is slipping by and here another June has arrived. I have spent the past few days on a huge old Estate that the army has taken over. Probably a few years ago some of England's highest royalty lived here. There is a beautiful ground surrounding the home and the yard is just alive with a variety of beautiful flowers. About dusk last evening I wandered out thru the grounds and there must have been 50 rabbits hopping around. It would be fine if the world could be this beautiful and peaceful all the time.

I have bumped into many of my old Army friends during the past few days but none from home.

The weather is very comfortable now but there is one thing I don't like. we wear wool the year round and it gets pretty uncomfortable on some of the real hot days.

Everything is fine with me and I hope you are doing ok at home.

Love to all,
Brother
